Handwritten marginal note in Pali script, oriented vertically on the left side of the page.

Handwritten text in Pali script, enclosed within a pink rectangular border. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. The script is a cursive style typical of ancient South Asian manuscripts. The text appears to be a continuous passage, possibly a sutra or a commentary, discussing various concepts in Pali. The pink border highlights the main body of the text, while the marginal note on the left provides additional context or commentary.

[illegible]

Handwritten notes in the left margin, including the number '3' and some illegible script.

Handwritten text in a South Asian script, likely Sinhala, with several lines. The text is written in black ink on a light background. There are several lines of text, some of which are underlined or have other markings. The text appears to be a list or a series of entries, possibly related to a historical or administrative record. The script is cursive and somewhat difficult to read without context. There are some words that are written in a different script or style, possibly indicating a specific dialect or a particular type of writing. The text is organized into several lines, with some lines starting with a small symbol or character. The overall appearance is that of a handwritten document or a page from a book.
